ALMOST READY FOR SIGNATURE

THE TARIFF IS LIKELY TO BE COME A LAW BY TOMORROW NIGHT.

GOES BACK TO THE HOUSE

Cotton Futures Dropped From the Measure—Will Be Taken Up Separately.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The Democratic tariff revision bill probably will be in the hands of President Wilson for his signature by tomorrow night. The senate at the end of a listless debate passed the conference report at 8:30 o'clock tonight by a vote of 36 to 17, only four more than the necessary quorum of the senate.

Senators La Follette, Republican, and Poindexter, Progressive, voted for the conference report, as they did for the bill on its passage, and Senators Randolph and Thornton, Democrats, voted against it, as they did against the bill. Otherwise it was strictly a party vote.

Immediately after the passage of the conference report, acting on motions made by Chairman Simmons of the finance committee, the senate rejected the Smith-Lever compromise cotton futures tax amendment passed by the house Tuesday and then receded from its own amendment known as the Clarke cotton futures tax plan. Both of these motions were carried without roll calls and their effect is to leave the cotton futures question out of the tariff bill, so far as the senate is concerned.

The bill will be returned to the house early tomorrow. At a conference of house leaders today the question was taken up as to whether the bill might not go directly from the senate to the president. While many parliamentarians held that this course would be legal, Chairman Underwood and Speaker Clark decided that the house should take formal action tomorrow to recede from its cotton futures tax amendment.

It was thought at the capitol tonight that the bill would become a law Saturday. Anticipating such a conclusion to the tariff revision fight, the treasury department was busy today making final preparations to put the new rates of duty into effect on all foreign merchandise on the day following the signature of the bill by the president. It is expected that millions of dollars' worth of imported goods now held in bond, will be withdrawn for distribution in this country within two or three days after the new tariff rates become effective.

Senator Simmons in presenting estimates of the revenues to be derived from the new tariff rates, declared the Democrats were to be congratulated on the character of the tariff bill that finally had been brought out of the conference committee.

"This is the first tariff bill ever passed in this country," he said, "that was framed by the whole body of the party responsible for the legislation."

18 JAILED FOR CONTEMPT

Twelve Men and Six Women Convicted in Socialist Disturbances at Seattle.

Seattle, Oct. 2.—Superior Judge Jno. E. Humphreys today sent twelve men and six women to the county jail for contempt of court in defying him in his decision against socialists. Later a consultation of other judges of the superior court was held and Thorwald Siegfried, an attorney who previously had complained to the bar association of Judge Humphreys's excessive use of the writ of injunction, was compelled to apply for a writ of habeas corpus for the prisoners.

Siegfried applied to Judge Everett Smith for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Glenn Hoover, attorney for the Free Speech defense league, and former assistant attorney general of Washington and G. M. Hodgson, one of the signers of "resolutions of protest" against Judge Humphreys's anti-strike speaking injunctions. The writ was granted and the men released on their own recognizance.

Clerks Organize.

Temple, Oct. 2.—A Retail Clerks' union was organized in this city last night with a good membership, N. S. Monger being elected president. Fourteen charter members signed the rolls on temporary organization and another meeting will be held October 16 to permanently organize. State Organizer W. W. Van Zandt of Fort Worth, representing the International Retail Clerks' Protective Association, was present and lent assistance in effecting organization.

Sulzer Impeachment Court Adjourns Until Monday

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Only a brief session of the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer was held today and then an adjournment until Monday afternoon was granted by Presiding Judge Cullen. This was done in order that the attorneys for the governor might have time to perfect their plans for opening the case.

Of the plans of the defense little is known except that Senator Harvey D. Hinman will outline the defense, if he is able, and that Louis A. Sarecky, the governor's campaign secretary, will be the first witness for the impeached executive. That the governor will testify there is no doubt, despite the fact that some members of his counsel opposed his taking the stand. A long conference was held between the governor and his attorneys tonight at the "people's house." Ef-

COTTON CROP SMALL GINNING VERY HEAVY

GOVERNMENT CONDITION REPORT SHOWS 64.1 OF NORMAL.

TO DATE 3,237,851 BALES HAVE BEEN GINNED, ROUND BALES AS HALF BALES.

Drought in Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri Are Held Reasonable.

Total Same Time Last Year Was 3,005,934—Texas Figures Smaller.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The condition of the cotton crop of the United States on Thursday, September 25, was 64.1 per cent of normal, compared with 68.2 per cent on August 25, 1913, 89.6 per cent on September 25, 1912, 71.1 per cent on September 25, 1911, 65.9 per cent on September 25, 1910, 68.6 per cent, the average of the past ten years on September 25. This announcement was made at noon today by the crop reporting board, bureau of statistics, United States department of agriculture, in its final condition report of the season, the condition being estimated from reports of its correspondents and agents throughout the country.

During the early part of the growing season this year conditions were favorable, the eastern cotton states and unfavorable in the eastern cotton states; as the season advanced, however, prospects declined in the east and improved somewhat in the west.

Until the latter part of the month which today's report covered, there was severe drought in Texas, Oklahoma, and southern Missouri, but this third week of the period, the heavy rains at points in those states, as well as in portions of Arkansas, were thought to have caused some damage to the open cotton. During the second half of the period high winds and heavy rains were thought to have caused some damage in eastern North Carolina. In the week the drought was reported as severe over much of Tennessee and portions of South Carolina, while the drought in Arkansas was considerably relieved.

SUP'T SAM G. REID OF OGLESBY, TEXAS

Who Tours Eight States, Tests New Volcanic Earth Fluid, Vitalitas.

Throughout eight states Sam G. Reid is known by thousands of people. He is superintendent of the Third district of the Postmasters' League of the U. S. A. He works directly under the president of the league and his jurisdiction includes eight states as follows: Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona. Superintendent Reid's home and headquarters are Oglesby. "Vitalitas has cured me of inflammatory rheumatism, affecting one ankle, and of stomach trouble of long standing," recently stated Superintendent Reid.

That simple statement will be read by thousands who know Mr. Reid personally. It is such statements that is making the name of Vitalitas sweep around the world. From every source comes a stream of reports of the curative force of this new earth fluid.

Vitalitas, as Nature made it, is pure and unadulterated. Every drop of it is beneficial. It is antagomistic to all disease conditions. Such disorders as indigestion, rheumatism, biliousness, nervous debility, impotency, catarrh, liver and kidney ills are overcome by it. Investigate it today. detective told him he knew all about his friends anyway and Davis, feeling that the union had deserted him, accompanied Foster to New York.

Swear to Confession.

Here in the presence of representatives of the federal district attorney and the National Erectors' association, he dictated and swore to the long detailed confession which was given out by the district attorney's office. Davis said he had been an iron worker since 1909 and had been employed at Birmingham, Denver, Pueblo, St. Louis, New York, Washington, Providence, Cleveland and Pittsburgh. In the early days of the troubles between the union and the bridge builders he was a member of the "entertainment" committee, whose duty, he said, was to assault non-union workers. He began his career as a dynamiter at Trenton, N. J.

In careful detail the confession described how Davis blew up, or tried to blow up, buildings and bridges in various cities and towns of the east. It was during his preparation of plans to destroy a new building at Fall River, Oct. 26, 1908, that Davis first came in communication with James Jones. He says he called Jones at Indianapolis to the telephone and asked him for money. Jones, he adds, sent $50.

REED JURY MAY REPORT TODAY

THE TWELVE MEN DELIBERATED
UNTIL 11 O'CLOCK LAST NIGHT.

PRISONER WEARY OF IT ALL

Pathetically Expresses His Despondency as He Is Led to His Cell After Jury Retires.

"If they bring in the death penalty I want to be hung tonight."

These were the pathetic words of Dud Reed, who, for the past ten days had faced a jury in the Fifty-fourth district court, where he has been held for trial the master and dynamiting of John Ritchie, when he was led to his cell in the McLennan county jail shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when his case was placed in the hands of the jury.

"Well, Mr. Costley, it's up to them," Reed told Jailer Ed Costley as he entered the jail, "and if they bring in the death penalty I want to be hung tonight. Is the scaffold ready?" The jailer assured him that the grim executioner was standing ready and Reed went to his cell. But Dud Reed had no lost hope. He was merely giving expression to the weariness of the awful ordeal he had brought to his trial.

The case was closed shortly before 1 o'clock, when Frank Oltorf, county attorney of Falls county, closed his one hour and forty-nine minute speech. Court was adjourned immediately afterwards for dinner. After dinner the jury retired to the deliberating rooms. With them they took the charge of Judge Richard L. Munroe, together with two special charges submitted by the defense.

Will Sleep On It.

From that hour up until 11 o'clock last night they deliberated and at that hour they "turned in" without determining a verdict.

The trial of Dud Reed, transferred to McLennan from Falls county, where the crime was committed, writes a page upon the criminal history of Texas.

For ten days the case has dragged its weary way through the court, while state and trial alike has fought every inch.

Three Kinsmen Indicted.

Three men were indicted by the Falls county grand jury for the crime. They were Buss Wyers, Dud Reed and Bounce Beatty. The three are related by blood. Wyers has already been tried by a jury in Falls county, convicted and sentenced to hang. His case is now before the court of appeals.

Immediately after the close of the trial and trial at the afternoon session of the court trial of Bounce Beatty was called. A special venire of seventy-five men had been called from which to select a jury for the case. After a consultation between Judge Munroe and the special venire was excused indefinitely, and the case was allowed to go over. It will probably be reopened when the jury in the Reed case reports.

It is expected the jury will report some time today. No indication of how they stood on the case was given out last night, but the general opinion is that they will reach a verdict today.

Attorney Tom Connolly for the defense opened the argument yesterday morning. Reciting the case as the defense viewed it, Mr. Connolly brought into play with force the charge of the court with reference to insanity, both as a result of inheritance and that form of insanity produced by the excessive use of intoxicating liquors.

Connolly took the evidence piece-meal and discussed it.

He was followed by Frank Oltorf, county attorney of Falls county, and the principal prosecutor of the case, who closed the argument.

Mr. Oltorf's talk consisted of a discussion of the evidence. Reviewing the testimony of witnesses for the state, together with that of two physicians summoned by the defense in the attempt to show that Reed was incapable of knowing the consequences of his acts, if he had committed the crime charged against him, and going into a recital of the acts to which state's witnesses testified that Reed did on the night of the murder, both before and after the crime, he called upon the jury to return the death penalty. He spoke almost two hours. With his remarks, the case went to the jury at a few minutes until 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Court was adjourned a short time thereafter and the jury began the consideration of its verdict.

U. S. Attorney Miller probably will conduct Jones' trial. His term of office has expired and it is known he will hold the office only after the dynamite cases have been completed to satisfy rules on the appealed cases.

Two men, Ortiz E. McManus and E. C. Webb, who actually did much of the dynamiting work, testified for the government in the trial here last fall and Davis, who is expected to plead guilty soon after being brought to this city, would be a third dynamiter to testify in case of a second trial.

U. S. Attorney Miller probably will conduct Jones' trial. His term of office has expired and it is known he will hold the office only after the dynamite cases have been completed to satisfy rules on the appealed cases.

No Statement From Headquarters.

No statement of any kind could be obtained from the international headquarters of the union president. A stenographer stated that Jones was the only official about the office. She said the other officers, including President Frank M. Ryan, were traveling.

Jones is a new man in the dynamite case. He was financial secretary of New York local No. 40 and was elected international secretary.

At the convention held here last January, he was a brother-in-law of Frank C. Webb of New York, a former member of the union's executive board, and one of the 33 men convicted here last December.

Rescuers Draw Near to Entombed Man

Centralia, Pa., Oct. 2.—Separated from freedom by fifteen feet of hard, solid coal, Thomas Tosheky, the miner who has been entombed in the Continental colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal company since last Friday morning, must spend at least eighteen hours more in his dismal cell, 100 feet below the surface. He was informed tonight by rescuers who are working desperately to penetrate the walls of coal surrounding him.

Notwithstanding that a powerful air compressor, capable of doing the work of six men, was installed in the mine today, miners officials directing the work declared tonight that it would be impossible to break the coal barrier until noon tomorrow "and perhaps not then."

The instructions of P. J. Heffner, superintendent of the mine, to refrain from exerting himself too much by picking away at the coal in the direction of his rescuers was followed by the imprisoned miner, who did little work today. He conversed with his rescuers several times through the fifty-foot pipe that has been inserted from an adjoining chamber and through which his food is sent to him.

Tosheky told the physician who directs his diet tonight that he was becoming weakened somewhat because he has had no solid food for nearly a week and said he was very anxious to "sit down to a good, substantial beef dinner." He said he had slept some during the day and felt as well as could be expected under the circumstances. But as the time drew nearer for him to be liberated, he grew weak and fatigued.

He frequently asks the time and passes much of the time singing and praying that none of the rescuers will meet with an accident in the attempt to free him.

CANAL IS UNHARMED

COL. GOETHALS STATES EARTH-
QUAKE DID NO MAT-
TERIAL DAMAGE.

Lock of Operating Mechanism Works
Perfectly—Stands Two Supreme Tests.

Panama, Oct. 2—"Absolutely no damage was done by last night's earthquake to any part of the canal." This signed statement was issued this evening by Col. Geo. W. Goethals, chairman and chief engineer, Isthmian canal commission.

The canal officials are greatly pleased tonight over the fact that within the space of one week the Gatun locks have been called upon to respond to two supreme tests, and in each case proved equal to the demand.

On Friday last it was demonstrated beyond question that the lock-operating mechanism works perfectly and that vessels can be locked through at will. While the earthquake test was not figured on, still in one sense of the word the event came opportunely, inasmuch as it has shown to the world that it will take more than the ordinary earthquake to cause irreparable damage to the locks, structures and dams.

Lieutenant Colonel Siebert went over the greater part of the Gatun locks in person today and satisfied himself that there had been no damage. Colonel Goethals was early assured that the canal works had suffered no injury and that everyone knew the facts.

The president of Panama, Dr. Belisario Porras, personally inspected the canal works this afternoon and learned with great relief that the quake had left the canal unharmed. Reports received up to late tonight from all parts of the isthmus indicate that the disturbance was purely of a local character with the greatest intensity in Los Santos province, 120 miles from this city. A late dispatch from the city of Los Santos estimates the damage there at $25,000, and in the entire province at $100,000. Twenty-six tremors were counted in Los Santos City. No lives are reported lost with the exception of one death from fright.

SERRATO CASE TO GRAND JURY

After Four Hours of Discussion No Agreement Reached—Locked Up for the Night.

Fearfull, Tex., Oct. 2.—The fate of Jose Serrato, first of fourteen ammunition smugglers to be tried charged with the murder of Deputy Candelario Ortiz three weeks ago, was given to the jury at 6 o'clock tonight, and after nearly four hours' discussion they were locked up for the night without reporting an agreement.

Mason Maney opened the argument for the state, speaking entirely upon the judge's charges. Magus Smith followed for the defense, attacking the testimony of state witnesses, asserting the Mexicans had violated no state law. He laid stress upon the agreement between Jesse Campbell and the smugglers granting passage to smugglers upon release of Eugene Buck, then a prisoner. The killing of Ortiz was explained as due to excitement and resistance.

R. W. Hudson, for the defense, made a strong appeal, likening the defendants to Lafayette, Kosciusko, Pulaski and Washington. He denounced the government of Mexico as tyrannical and asserted the defendants were patriots, working for the country's freedom. He claimed Serrato was either guilty of first degree murder or absolutely innocent. District Attorney Vails closed with a review of the evidence and denounced the defendants as anarchists, denied patriotism of the defendants, as being allies of neither Huerta nor Carranza, but of the bandit leader, Zapata.

Lino Gonzales will go on trial Monday. Two cases will probably be taken up next week and others are expected to go to San Antonio, though possibly to Laredo.

AUGUSTE FEDERAL LAND CASE.

Denton, Oct. 2.—A suit which involves the entire subject of federal or state control of the public domain was argued in federal circuit court of appeals here today. Fees to the government and estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 in the next ten years are involved in the case, that of the United States against the Utah Power and Light company, a $40,000,000 merger.

C. L. Etelson left yesterday for Houston, where he will spend three or four days.

H. J. Sloane of Battle was in the city yesterday.

Billy Hammond was in Hillsboro yesterday.

R. B. Culpepper of China Springs was in the city yesterday on business.

Col. Harrington of Marlin was in Waco yesterday.

Argue Federal Land Case.

Austin, Oct. 2.—A suit which involves the entire subject of federal or state control of the public domain was argued in federal circuit court of appeals here today. Fees to the government and estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 in the next ten years are involved in the case, that of the United States against the Utah Power and Light company, a $40,000,000 merger.

Damage at San Marcos.

Austin, Oct. 2.—Reports from San Marcos confirm earlier advices from San Marcos as to the damage at that place. Practically all the lower portions of the city were under water, the Blanco and San Marcos rivers flowing together as one large lake.

Three bridges in that neighborhood were washed away, including a new $10,000 steel bridge over the Blanco. This struck the L. & G. N. trestle, knocking out one of the piles, the bridge not crossing it.

The city looked forward to a night of darkness as the light plant was out of commission. Rain was still falling today, not having ceased for 36 hours. Damage to crops in Hays county was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

In Austin the rain continued, not so heavy as on Wednesday, until near noon, the downpour having been continuous for nearly 24 hours. The rainfall had risen 7.15 inches up to 6 o'clock this morning, including 1.15 inches on Tuesday and probably half an inch or more fell after 6 o'clock.

Tonight the crews of several trains were in the city and all seemed to be in doubt as to what their orders would be.

Damage to railroad property included the washing out of a bridge on the Katy at Landau, a bridge at New Braunfels which was condemned until an inspection could be made to determine its safety. An K. & T. bridge at Lockhart and a considerable stretch of track at Lockhart were gone and an L. & G. N. bridge at Wetmore was down.

Woman's Morrible Experience.

INVITATIONS REPEATED

BY MRS. J. W. RAGSDALE

Owing to the unpropitious weather, Mrs. J. W. Ragsdale, who had issued invitations for the Country club on Thursday, repeated the same for Saturday afternoon; hours between 3 and 5 o'clock.

MR. AND MRS. FRIEDLANDER TO BE HOME ON MONDAY

Since their brilliant wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Friedlander have been enjoying the new season gayety of Chicago. They have written in advance that they may be expected home with Monday.

MRS. A. H. NEWMAN CALLS ART LEAGUE

This morning at 10 o'clock, Mrs. A. H. Newman issues call for every member of the Art league to be at the public library. This is very important, since the Art league has such important work in the Cotton Palace.

A BRIDGE LUNCHEON WITH MRS. HAROLD SHEAR

The Mesdames Harold Shear and Frank Wheeler have issued invitations for Monday at 1 o'clock. This is in courtesy to their cousin, Miss Camille Webb, the bride expectant. A bridge luncheon will be the order of enjoyment.

THE SHAKSPERE CLUB IS CALLED TO MEET

As president of the Shakspere club Mrs. J. W. Downs requests every member to be present at the Cotton Palace auditorium on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Business of importance is before the club, and this hour is set in advance of the general meeting of women at the Palace at 4 o'clock.

THE BAYLOR ROUND TABLE IS ABOUT TO RESUME

It is the annual custom with the Baylor Round Table for the first coming together to be of a social nature, in order that new members may be given cordial welcome. This year, however, finds Mrs. E. P. Brooks, wife of the university president, hostess. But, on Thursday, the regular day, it was not convenient for Mrs. Brooks, so the Round Table will resume regular study within another week, with this social feature in abeyance. Mrs. J. B. Johnson is the incoming president. The club has a bright outlook for this opening.

TODAY IS SAILING DATE FOR MR. AND MRS. BOLTON

Today, on the newest and the largest boat which crosses the great Atlantic, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bolton, Mrs. Flora Cameron and Master Bolton are taking passage for America. This passage is on the Imperator, the boat which has attracted so much attention within the past season. Arrival will be made in New York, after which passage will be taken for Waco. The party is expected here before October 15. Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Bolton have been remembering their home friends with cards and messages to tell of the deep interest which their trip through Germany, Holland, Belgium and France has given them.

GENERAL WOMEN'S MEETING AT COTTON PALACE

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. J. W. Bass is calling a general meeting of the women of Waco for the Cotton Palace at 4 o'clock. This is for the purpose of getting into line for the mammoth parade of women which takes place on November 8. Plans are also to be discussed concerning delegations, division chairmen, sections for the various organizations, etc. Individual women, every one in Waco, if she is interested, is urged to be present. The women are determined that this parade shall be the climax of the work for their Palace, and they must have nothing but that is symbolic or truly artistic. Make no engagement for Saturday after 4 o'clock, and be at the Cotton Palace.

A GALVESTON ENGAGEMENT OF INTEREST HERE

It is now reported that for congratulations to go to the Reverend Winter in Galveston over his engagement, which was recently announced. His fiancee is Miss Lucile Foster, daughter of Reverend and Mrs. Foster of New Orleans. "Pat" Winter, as he is still recalled by his boyhood friends here, while not a resident of Waco for some time, has retained interest among his friends by visits to the old home. The son of the late Colonel and Mrs. John G. Winter, his family was once identified with the early social life of Waco. The home, corner Thirteenth and Columbus, has now long since come into strange hands, yet many a pleasant memory comes by the older settlers in passing it.

WEDDING CARDS COME FROM WACO GROOM-TO-BE

CHILDREN'S STORY HOUR BEGINS THIS AFTERNOON

It has been found more convenient for the little folks to have their weekly story at the library on Friday. The main reason for changing from Saturday is to enable the children to get their week-end reading books before Saturday is gone. Miss Lotta Pharr, who is preparing herself for a professional story teller, will have charge of the hour through this winter.

All mothers should encourage their children to attend every week. This means more than listening to a story. It cultivates the child for the best in literature, and gives him familiarity with the standard stories in music, fairy land and adventure. The theory of educating the child today is not so much to correct as to prevent. This applies to the story hour, for if

Years of Suffering

Catarrh and Blood Disease—Doctors Failed to Cure,

Miss Mabel F. Dawkins, 1214 Lafayette St., Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "For three years I was troubled with catarrh and blood disease. I tried several doctors and a dozen different remedies, but none of them did me any good. A friend told me of Hood's Saraparilla. I took two bottles of this medicine and was as well and strong as ever. I feel like a different person and recommend Hood's to any one suffering from catarrh."

Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarataba.

will give ample dancing for the Palace season.

It is now in order for the women to remember these occasions and to prepare toilets in keeping. The society ball must find brilliant costumes on the floor, for this will pronounce to the world the status of dress with the Waco women. Those who attend and dance only with the same friends they meet in exclusive ball rooms do not realize what their appearance in public means to the other women who love pretty dress and flashing jewels, but have little opportunity to see such. Take a woman from the country; perhaps this is the only opportunity she has ever had to catch a glimpse of society.

Again, the women of Waco must remember that the Cotton Palace spirit must bring co-operation into everything. This is a city exposition, and all the city must enter into the spirit. It exalts the woman rainer than degrades her to see that she feels her duty in this regard. "But, we do not dance in public places," we may hear. Be it that you do not, do you not attend the society ball with your husband? And, do you not dance with the very same men whose names are on your most exclusive programs? Of course you do, and it behoves you to appear at the society ball to tell the world that you are public spirited, and to afford the world a glimpse into the social life of our city.

The balls are with a strong committee. These will work out the details. It remains only for the public to respond.

Society Notes.

And now comes the question, who will succeed Miss Ruth Lennox as Waco's representative at the Fort Worth Horse show this season?

The Philos are discussing informally their opening ball. However, nothing definite will be done until after the Cotton Palace season.

Be a part of the parade on Womans' day, will you not? Surely you will decorate your vehicle creditably, and enter? Never mind if your entry is old; the older the better, for then you will not mind driving tacks to bring out the tasteful effect you intend.

If one may forward a suggestion, do Waco merchants, pay more attention to your attendant and horses when you enter one of the Cotton Palace parades! This has been neglected heretofore. A handsome float, manned by a greasy, half clothed darky is rather incongruous, to say the least of it.

Owing to the rain, the social tea for the opening of St. Paul's Guild was postponed until more favorable weather.

Mr. Cecil Lord, who summered in the Borgess cottage, has taken rooms for the winter with Mrs. Bland Brown, Fifteenth and Jefferson.

Is not this the limit? Some woman took the tag from another woman's hat, just because that tag came from Paris. Wonder if the hat were any better or was any more becoming?

Mrs. J. G. Rousseau is now matron of the cottage on Sixth and Dutton.

Mrs. Whitman and the Misses Whitman are removed from suburban South Third and occupy the Eby cottage, Seventh and Dutton.

Dorothy Dix insists that women shun propose marriage. She has done this more than once. Wonder if her plan will at last prevail?

Did you know it was the proper thing for every husband whose wife is receiving friends for the very first time, to stand beside his wife? This is as a young husband or host for the first time in a new home to give formal welcome to every friend. Upon other occasions, when the wife is giving an afternoon at home, the host, if he finds time to leave business, mingles freely in order to seek the stranger, the neglected guest, or to supply the little details or omission should he note any from the servants.

Remember, if the stock of bones comes to take you to the station or to carry your trunk, dismiss, and call for something better. To assist in the humane work is not always to go into court and prefer charges.

Is it not in order now for every single mother to train her child to watch carefully behind and before when on the street? The time has passed when one can leisurely cross a street in Waco. Alighting from the cars when another may be approaching on the other track, crossing the street when vehicles, cars and automobiles are flying, and other dangerous signs are out now. Train the little ones to be in a measure careful, and perhaps many a pain and headache will be saved.

In their session this afternoon the Austin Avenue Missionary will have present one of the conference officers, Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth of Fort Worth.

Following are the traveling agents of The News, who are authorized to solicit and receipt for subscriptions, advertising, etc. W. W. Lewis, F. E. Long, W. H. Byrd.

THE FOREST RANGES.

It is reported by the federal forest bureau that there was a marked increase in the quantity of livestock grazed on national forest ranges during the past fiscal year. Nine and a half million domestic animals have been occupied during the summer in converting one of the by-products of the forests into meat, hides, and wool, says the department. In addition, there were in round numbers three hundred thousand calves and colts and five million lambs and kids exempt from permit and therefore not enumerated.

According to the figures gathered, the amount of stock grazed under permit during the year is over four per cent greater than for the previous year, while the number of permittees using the forests for pasture purposes was increased from 26,501 to 27,466. The total receipts by the government from grazing fees for the twelve months ending June 30, 1913, were $1,077,739, and the portion of this applied to schools and roads in the States in which the national forests are situated is about $352,708.

"Grazing is second only to lumbering as a principal use of the national forests. Practically all of the national forests used extensively for grazing purposes are within the eleven States extending east from the Pacific coast, known as the Far Western group. These States contain, according to latest reports, 8,546,000 cattle, 2,810,000 horses and mules, and 18,366,000 sheep. The national forests support in these States 17 per cent of the total number of cattle grazed, 1.68 per cent of horses and mules, and 17.5 per cent of sheep.

It is estimated that the annual product of these animals is 300,000 head of beef cattle of various ages and grades and 5,000,000 head of lambs and mutton sheep.

Since the average net meat weight of a beef animal is 515 pounds, of a lamb 37 pounds, and of a sheep 52 pounds, the stock grazed on national forests in the eleven far-Western States produce annually about 155 million pounds of beef and 312 million pounds of mutton. In addition, it is said the wool grows totals 55,000,000 pounds, hides approximate 200,000 in number and pelts 5,000,000.

This output, according to the forest service, does not involve any material sacrifice of forest or watershed protection or permanent forage productivity on the national forests. The system of range management applied by the government has proved, it is claimed, effective and simple, and the quality and quantity of the national forage crop is said to be improving each year.

Two Swift Kicks Properly Placed.
No oculist can do anything for the blindness of self-love.—Chicago News.

And no chiropodist, and no osteopath, for other afflictions caused by self-love; for self-love takes hold of the very bones of a man and like causes him to strut. There is no cure for the blindness of self-love by any purely local application; self-love must be driven out by application of half the business end of an axe, enthusiastic pedestrian. After a fall pride goeth.

HAIL THE PANKHURST.

Crying out that the United States masses should "give Mrs. Pankhurst a hearing," the Boston Globe—to whose city, like most of the leaders of any really big cause the woman doubtless will be welcomed—deals very lightly with her behavior in London and wants to know whether she will be an "undesirable alien" during her four weeks' visit. "Will her presence," the Globe asks, "in this country endanger public welfare, dis-

Before Granting a Natural Gas Franchise

If Waco gets a public supply of natural gas, what will be the minimum charge for the service at domestic, business and industrial rates?

This is not crossing a bridge prematurely. There is pending in commission an ordinance granting a natural gas pipe line and supply franchise to Messrs. Stough and Wilder and other promoters have applied to commission for a like grant.

We have commented on the ordinance. As to the second application, we have expressed the view that the people of Waco don't care how many such franchises the commission grants provided grant is contingent on the completion of the pipe line from the field and city mains actually placed, the supply ready for connection with houses and stores, the price of gas stipulated and reasonable—both maximum and minimum charges for all classes of contracts—and the good faith of promoters is attested by substantial bond placed with the city for the fulfillment of the terms of construction and franchise obligations.

Waco wants a supply of natural gas and the question of who sells it the supply is a lesser consideration.

We assume the commission is not done with the Stough and Wilder ordinance—is still considering its terms. If this is so we call attention to the fact that the document under consideration does not fix a minimum charge for the privilege of being connected with the city's natural gas supply. We expect the commission will see that this essential provision is inserted.

Section 6 of the proposed ordinance provides that for ten years the grantees may charge the people of Waco for natural gas certain stipulated maxima as compared with fixed charges for the utility.

turb public order, incite American suffragists to violence, destroy the home, undermine our institutions and lead to anarchy? Those may appear to be very foolish questions indeed, but fears of such calamities are frequently expressed by those who regard that refined, cultured, frail little woman as an ogre. There is of course no such danger. In the first place, because Mrs. Pankhurst has no grievance against our government and no motive for inciting violence; in the second place, because there is no militant faction among American suffragists to whom she could possibly appeal, even though she were so disposed. Besides, she has her hands more than full with the management of the English woman suffrage campaign without attempting to advise her sisters in America. Her admission to this country would be in full accord with enlightened American tradition, precedent, custom. Our government has even seen the precedent twice in the case of Mrs. Pankhurst herself, for as Miss Blackwell pertinently remarks, the British militant has been twice admitted to the United States since her first imprisonment in England. The Taft administration recognized the purely political character of her offense and did not attempt to confuse political with moral issues."

We doubt if the Globe will impress the public with its cudgeling in the Pankhurst's behalf, for the public has never the least reason for thinking of her as a "refined, cultured, frail little woman." That sort of defense is almost absurd. We really doubt, on the contrary, whether an American jury—assuming Mrs. Pankhurst were to lead in this country such expeditions of violence and destruction as she led in her own land—would convict her as for the crime of assault and the crime of destruction of property, if not for more serious crime against the person. The general American view of Mrs. Pankhurst's mentality and its soundness does not run to refinement, culture and frailty attributes. But let her come in and let her do her "derndest" quietly for the cause. There could not possibly be the counterpart in American cities by "refined" women, of the performances she has indulged in London. And the better, more intellectual element of the equal suffrage cause leadership in this country is not of Mrs. Pankhurst's type nor in sympathy with her style of "campaign." The realization by Mrs. Pankhurst that her American campaigning and experiences must be subdued and respectable may work in her an influence that England will think us for. She will see what our equal suffragists are achieving without the use of brickbats.

THE TRADE WE SEEK TO INCREASE.

An examination of the official figures of those countries by the bureau shows that twenty-three per cent of their trade of which statistics are available was drawn from the United States. The Latin-American countries in which imports from the United States formed a distinctly larger percentage of the total imports in 1912, than in 1905 are Brazil, Chile, Peru, Bolivia and Cuba. Cuba, Mexico, Haiti and Santo Domingo obtain from the United States over one-half of their imports from the United States. The Latin-American countries as a whole, about 50 per cent; Venezuela, over 30 per cent; Colombia and Ecuador, each about 28 per cent; Paraguay, 34 per cent, and the remaining countries between 10 and 20 per cent.

Imports into the United States from Latin-America show also large gains during the period since 1900, the total in 1913 having been 441 million dollars, against 162 million in 1900. The percentage of gain in imports from those countries was thus 171 per cent, against an increase of 197 per cent in exports from the United States threefold. Manufactures form the bulk of the exports to the countries in question, and article foodstuffs and manufacturers' materials the bulk of the imports from them. Cotton, foods, flour, manufactures of iron and steel, mineral oils, automobiles, railway cars, furniture, lumber, agricultural implements, leather and leather goods, are the principal articles exported to Latin-America, while sugar, coffee, cocoa, tobacco, India rubber, wool, nitrate of soda, copper, hides and skins are imported therewith.

President Elliott of the New Haven railroad is obsessed with the idea that a short route to the restoration of public confidence in the railroads of the country will be furnished by a positive declaration by federal and State commissions that railroad rates may be advanced." Mr. Elliott better awake right now to the fact that his own line has a long route to travel before it will have the public confidence—and that route has nothing to do with advanced rates, either.

Texas Viewpoints.

His Age of Reason.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Benjamin Mattingly announce the engagement of their daughter, Clotilde, to Mr. Austin Cunningham, of San Angelo, Texas. Mr. Mattingly is a member of an old Maryland family, and is well known in Baltimore and Washington society. Mr. Cunningham is a son of Capt. and Mrs. William Streit Cunningham. He is Washington correspondent for the San Antonio Express and secretary of the National Press Club. The wedding will take place in November.—Washington Post.

They don't make them better than Austin Cunningham—better newspaper men and better men. This column has celebrated Cunningham as a friend and as a young Texan the State may be proud of. When he was elected secretary of the National Press Club, the winter past, we rejoiced in this honor that came to a Southerner for the first time because it was Cunningham and because Cunningham was of the youngest newspaper men in years and capital service among the press club's membership. He did well in newspaper work in Texas, Mexico and Alaska. All Texans do not read regularly the San Antonio Express, but all Texas editors do, and their tributes may be added to the fact that Cunningham was elected secretary of the National Press Club as criterion of what he has achieved in Washington in less than three years. This new and greater honor for Cunningham will be glad news to many of his guild in Texas, and to a few in its cities and in its political circles. The writer may be pardoned a note personal—Cunningham was his bunkie in Austin during a legislative session that permitted newspaper men little time for sleep, and in San Antonio there was a comradeship his remembrance and appreciation of which endure and deepen. The photograph of Miss Mattingly that is with the above note in the Post tells that she is fair, her beauty to Cunningham tells that she is fine—and fortunate. That Cunningham is fortunate is a conclusion obvious to one who knows his nature and could from afar prefigure the woman he would ask to be his wife. With warm congratulations to them both, on this announcement, goes this expression of gladness that Cunningham now assuredly has entered his age of reason. "Er soll leben hoch, dreimal hoch, hoch, hoch!"

Retribution.

Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw calls Jerome a human hyena. From the names that have been applied to Jerome, one would suppose that he is almost a composite menagerie. Houston Posts George Bailey. Let the lady go as far as she likes about Mr. Jerome. If she were to misname him from now to crack of doom she could not produce the number and nature of epithets bestowed on her Harry by William Travers during those terrible weeks of his (count them) court trial.

Fluff.

Col. L. M. Green startles the State and arouses false hope by his declaration in Tyler Courier-Times that "a moral wave" has struck Dallas, Texas, but it will soon pass on.

For even the "soon pass on" cannot submerge the hope that is in that simple "struck." The colonel either is reprehensibly careless with his facts or is an artful flatterer. If any moral wave has struck that part of Texas it broke no nearer Dallas than Middlebury, in 16 million; to Colombia, in 1909, 2% million, and in 1913, 7 1/2 million; to Venezuela, in 1906, 7 1/2 million; to Ecuador, in 1906, 1 1/2 million, and in 1913, 2% million; to Chile, in 1909, from less than 3 million to 6 2/3 million in 1913, and those of Santo Domingo from 1 1/2 million in 1909 to 5% million in 1913.

An examination of the official figures of those countries by the bureau shows that twenty-three per cent of their trade of which statistics are available was drawn from the United States. The Latin-American countries in which imports from the United States formed a distinctly larger percentage of the total imports in 1912, than in 1905 are Brazil, Chile, Peru, Bolivia and Cuba. Cuba, Mexico, Haiti and Santo Domingo obtain from the United States over one-half of their imports from the United States. The Latin-American countries as a whole, about 50 per cent; Venezuela, over 30 per cent; Colombia and Ecuador, each about 28 per cent; Paraguay, 34 per cent, and the remaining countries between 10 and 20 per cent.

Imports into the United States from Latin-America show also large gains during the period since 1900, the total in 1913 having been 441 million dollars, against 162 million in 1900. The percentage of gain in imports from those countries was thus 171 per cent, against an increase of 197 per cent in exports from the United States threefold. Manufactures form the bulk of the exports to the countries in question, and article foodstuffs and manufacturers' materials the bulk of the imports from them. Cotton, foods, flour, manufactures of iron and steel, mineral oils, automobiles, railway cars, furniture, lumber, agricultural implements, leather and leather goods, are the principal articles exported to Latin-America, while sugar, coffee, cocoa, tobacco, India rubber, wool, nitrate of soda, copper, hides and skins are imported therewith.

A "Policy" or an "Attitude?"

(Texas Republic, San Antonio.)

Even the reckless, conceited mouthings of Henry Lane Wilson may be welcomed if these shall have the effect of expediting this nation's action in the Mexican problem. Careful consideration of the analytical dispatches of the leading journals will enable one to conclude that all the powers are awaiting the United States' determination of its plans to request the co-operation of Huerta in bringing about peace.—Waco Morning News.

True. And in due time the American people will know whether it shall be a "policy" or an attitude the president is prepared to take toward Mexico, and what attitude it is to be.

What is to be done?

It might be as well were the president to exercise the same deliberative care about forcing his currency ideas on the nation. Alleged Democratic party financial experts have not hitherto been greatly noted for their financial knowledge.

THE TRADE WE SEEK TO INCREASE.

In line with the agitation in Southern States for activity that will give these States due share of the great trade with the southern continent that will follow the opening of the canal, is a statement from the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, that exports from the United States to Latin-America in 1913 have amounted to a million dollars for every business day in the

The Proposed City Charter

The sub-committee of citizens engaged in the preparation of a new charter for the city of Waco has completed the draft of the document, which is to be submitted to the people later for their adoption or rejection. It is a lengthy document. Believing the people are interested in the charter, the Morning News will publish it in daily installments. These installments can be preserved and when the publication is complete the clippings will make a complete charter.

SECTION XXV.

General Powers.

Art. 184. Appointment of Officers.

The board of commissioners shall elect all city officers whose election or appointment is not otherwise provided for in this charter.

Art. 185. Officers' Duties, etc. Said board shall have power from time to require other and further duties of all officers whose duties are herein prescribed, except those in the water department and public service commissioners, and to define and prescribe the powers and duties of all officers appointed or elected by it whose duties are not herein specially prescribed and limited.

Art. 186. Said board may require bonds issued by the city and outstanding and unpaid shall never exceed 12 per cent of the taxable values as shown by the assessment rolls of said city; provided, that not more than eight per cent of such bonded indebtedness shall be created or used for purposes other than for the acquisition by purchase, condemnation or construction, extension, enlargement, or improvement of water, light, gas, telephone and any or all other public service utility plants and said board may require bonds given by corporation by faithful performance of their duties.

Art. 187. Salaries. The board of commissioners shall on or before the first day of January next preceding each and every election, fix the salary to be paid to the officers to be elected or appointed by the board of commissioners and public service commissioners, and in the event it should fail to so fix same before said date, such salaries shall remain the same as then existing.

Art. 188. Leave of Absence. The board of commissioners shall have power to grant to any officer of the city of Waco a leave of absence for such length of time, and with or without salary, during such absence as it may deem proper and right under the circumstances.

Art. 189. Suspension of Officers. The mayor shall have power to suspend any elected officer of the city of Waco except the water commissioners and public service commissioners and any officer appointed or elected by the board of commissioners for malfeasance, misfeasance, drunkenness, neglect of duty, or any other delinquency which under the law or this charter subjects such officer to removal, and upon so doing he shall report such suspension to the board of commissioners at its next meeting after such suspension, and if the cause thereof in which event it shall be the duty of the board of commissioners to proceed to the trial of such officer for such delinquency.

Art. 190. Each commissioner shall have power to suspend any officer or employee in any department under his control or supervision as such commissioner, in which event he shall report the same to the board of commissioners in like manner as provided in the preceding article for its action thereon, except the commissioner of public safety, who shall report all suspensions in the police and fire departments, and to the public service commissioners, to said commissioners.

Art. 191. When any elected officer except a commissioner or one appointed by the board of commissioners shall be suspended, said board may appoint a pro tempore officer to discharge all the duties of such suspended officer until he shall be reinstated or such office become vacant and a successor be duly elected, or appointed, and qualified.

Art. 192. Resignation and Removal of Officers. The resignation of all officers of the city shall be made to the board of commissioners in writing, and if accepted, the officer shall resign or be removed from office.

Art. 193. The board of commissioners shall have power to remove any officer for incompetency, corruption, misconduct or malfeasance in office after due notice and opportunity to be heard in his defense, except those in the water and public service departments.

Art. 194. In addition to the foregoing power of removal the board of commissioners shall have power at any time to remove any officer elected by them by resolution declaratory of its want of confidence in said officer; provided, that three-fourths of the commissioners elected vote in favor of said resolution.

Art. 195. Whenever any person shall be suspended or removed from any office, or the term for which he was elected or appointed has expired, or who has resigned or ceased to act in official capacity, he shall deliver to his successor all books, papers, money and effects in any way pertaining to said office.

Art. 196. Every person violating the provisions of the preceding article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum which may be provided by ordinance or any law of this state as a penalty for such misdemeanor.

Art. 197. Any person who shall be removed from any office in the city of Waco for corruption, misconduct or malfeasance in office, or any officer who shall have been entrusted with the collection or custody of funds belonging to the city, and who shall have been in default to said city and removed, shall thereafter be incapable of holding any office under said city.

Art. 198. Vacancies. How Filled. In case of a vacancy in the office of mayor or commissioner, the board of commissioners shall fill such vacancy by appointment, until the next annual election for city officers, at which time a successor to such office shall be elected to fill out the unexpired term.

Art. 199. In case of a vacancy in any other elective office in the city, the board of commissioners shall fill such vacancy by appointment, until the next annual election for city officers, at which time a successor to such office shall be elected to fill out the unexpired term.

Art. 200. In case of a vacancy to any other office in the city, except those under public service commission and in the water department, the board of commissioners shall fill such vacancy by appointment to fill out the unexpired term.

AD MEN SALUTE LOYAL THREE

UNUSUAL COMPLIMENT TO GOLDSTEIN, MIGEL AND COX.

CLUB STANDS BY ITS LAWS

Instructive Discourses Delivered by Postmaster Hoffman and Cotton Palace Publicity Man.

By a rising vote the Waco Ad Club, with almost half a hundred members present, extended a high compliment to the heads of two prominent business houses of the city at the regular meeting of the organization held last night in the assembly room of the Y. M. C. A. The recipients of the unusual official act are the two partners of the firm of Goldstein & Migel and C. H. Cox.

The well known citizens and business men were complimented by a formal motion put before the members by J. W. Barrett. It was set forth in Mr. Barrett's motion that Goldstein & Migel and C. H. Cox had signalized sustained the dignity, aims and objects of the Waco Ad Club by refusing to lend their encouragement or aid to advertising schemes that are under the ban of the organization, as indicated in Article 4 of the club's constitution and by-laws.

Barnett's Motion a Climax.

The Barnett motion came as a climax to a spirited debate of the question "Does the Ad Club approve of its members advertising in theatre programs?"

J. M. Clements precipitated a lively discussion when he got off with his expressed opinion that he saw no objection to members of the club patronizing theatre programs. He was followed by one or two other speakers who were in favor of throwing down the bars and letting in the theatre program publishers for patronage.

Half a dozen other members, however, dissented, and the argument was given full expression when Vice President C. B. Hartman, who was in the chair, directed attention to Article 4 of that article was so specific that it did not permit of any argument as to the legitimacy or illegitimacy of program advertising, so far as the club was concerned. The written law fixed the position of the club on the question he said.

Advocacy of program advertising was then halted and after A. C. Patterson had related specific instances in which Goldstein, Migel and C. H. Cox had refused to patronize a form of advertising that was on the club's outlaw list, Mr. Barnett said he believed the organization should show its appreciation of the loyalty and fidelity of the two business houses to the Ad Club. The sentiment found instant favor. When the motion was put there was not a dissenting voice.

They Talk Advertising.

The Ad men discussed street car advertising as a medium, and the majority of the speakers were inclined to the opinion that it was of doubtful efficiency, that while some advertisements were good, medium, that appealed to all classes. One speaker cited a case in point, where he had seen results obtained from classified ads in newspapers, while the same ad displayed in street cars brought no perceptible returns.

The principal events of the program last night were addresses made by Postmaster Wm. H. Hoffman and Mr. Davis, publicity director of the Texas Cotton Palace. Both speakers were given the closest attention from beginning to end. The subject of Mr. Hoffman's address was "How Unusual Sam Handies Advertising Magister."

Postmaster W. H. Hoffman.

Following is the text of Postmaster Hoffman's address:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen: The postoffice, like all other concerns, is making every effort to keep up with the times.

"Not many years back, most mercantile firms were contented to allow their business to rock along, making little or no effort to better or improve same; the postoffice business, in a measure, moved along under the same conditions, but with improvements in mercantile affairs so also followed improvements and betterments with postal affairs. While it is true that the postoffice department does not have to advertise for business, neither will the postal authorities boast of their war on fake advertisements they will not only save much money to the business world, but will do a great work for the postoffice department.

Correct Distributing.

"2. After getting up advertising master, the next thing is to distribute and to distribute it correctly. Now while a great many merchants get up good advertising master, they have a very poor and vicious way of distributing it. I will only refer to that advertising master which goes through the mails. It takes work and money to get up printed master, but patrons very often overlook a most important factor, that is, the necessity of having their mail master properly addressed and properly prepared for mailing.

"Those of you who have kept up with the reports of the business transacted at the Waco, Texas, postoffice will have observed that the volume of business transacted has more than trebled in the past eight years. This means that the amount of advertising master has increased in the same ratio. The mails became so congested on account of the carelessness manner in which the mailings were being delivered to the postoffice that I was obliged to get out a circular letter, which I mailed out to all business firms who mailed large quantities of mail. This letter was gotten out in the interest of the patrons, and also in the interest of the local postoffice, as I took the ground that if a merchant paid for advertising master and also paid postage, he was endeavoring to get the best results, and that he did not care to waste either his advertising master or postage. I felt sure that a great volume of this master was being brought to the postoffice with little or no attention being paid to the proper mailing of same, the importance of this duty having been entirely overlooked. The following is a copy of my letter:

Text of Letter.

"Sir: With a view of giving the patrons of this postoffice better service and also of relieving the congestion and conditions of mail in this office at certain periods, conditions which are brought on about the first of each month by the mailing of large amounts of monthly accounts, notices, circulars, etc., I desire to call attention to Section No. 636, paragraph 4, of the postal laws and regulations.

"At free delivery offices, while an effort is being made to supply complete addresses to letters without street and number, either by use of the directory or examination of other records, they must be subject to inquiry and delivery through the general delivery. A trial delivery of a letter should not be attempted by a letter carrier unless he is reasonably sure of delivering it.

"Also part of Section No. 636: When circulars, printed postal cards or other matter, shall arrive at any postoffice in large quantities, mailed apparently by the same person or firm and from which the street addresses have been purposely omitted, the direction may not be used to supply such omission, and all circulars, etc., which cannot be delivered through boxes or by letter carriers, shall be placed in the general delivery to await call.

Suggestions.

"Do not hold mail until the last moment—better to make several mailings than to wait and mail all at once.

"In mailing, local letters should be separated from mail going to other points.

"Keep letters properly faced, and when mailing in large quantities, deliver same at the mailing window tied up in bundles or in boxes.

"All letters should bear complete address, street and number, box number or rural route.

"The above is not written for the purpose of lessening the work of our postoffice clerks, but strictly in the interest of the patrons of this postoffice. I sincerely trust you will realize and appreciate the importance of this matter by taking such steps as will be necessary in assisting me to give the patrons of this office the very best service. Respectfully yours,

"W. H. HOFFMANN, P. M."

Comments were then made by the speaker on these points:

1. Giving reasons why advertising master should not be mailed on the first of the month.

2. Not to hold mail until the last moment—better to make several mailings.

3. Keep local mail separated from foreign mail.

4. Keep letters properly faced and deliver to the office in proper mailing shape.

5. All mail matter should be properly addressed—street number, rural route, etc.

Mr. Hoffman concluded, saying: "I am pleased to have had this opportunity of addressing you, and just that you, as business men, would understand that what I have said are true facts and that while the 'Ad Clubs' throughout the country are making their fight for legitimate advertising matter, that it would also be well to call attention to the important matter of using the necessary precautions in order to get the proper distribution of all mail matter.

"In closing, I would be ungrateful if I failed to compliment our Waco business men for their most hearty cooperation in all matters pertaining to, and in assisting me in bettering the mail service in this city. But very few patrons have failed to follow my suggestions, and the spirit in which they responded is greatly appreciated. I desire to extend an invitation to you as a body and individually to visit the postoffice at any time, and I will take pleasure in showing you through and demonstrating more clearly the matters which I have just discussed."

The postmaster was warmly applauded as he resumed his seat. Chairman Harman then introduced Mr. Davis.

M. B. Davis Speaks.

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Waco Ad Club: The Texas Cotton Palace has been such a factor in Waco's wonderful growth that its benefit to the business-men of this city is apparent on all sides and the subject assigned me, 'How the Cotton Palace Benefits the Waco Merchants,' will be handled rather as a reminder of what has resulted in the past and what may be expected in the future by a liberal boosting of the big show."

"Waco, in the first place, is in the very center of the world's greatest cotton-producing area, and it is fitting that an exposition in honor of the finest staple should be held each year, in the fall, to show the advance made in the methods of manufacturing the raw material into various products etc. This is one of the greatest educational features of the exposition.

Enormous Figures. Enormous State.

"Texas marketed 4,000,000 bales of cotton last year, which brought the planters of the state $22,600,000. Half a million plows turned 12,000,000 acres where myriad of plants with tiny leaves weaved from earth and air a fleecy staple that operated 113 compresses, 194 oil mills that crushed 2,000,000 tons of seed and ran 30,000,000 spindles. Cotton seed, considered worthless a quarter of a century ago, now brings the Texas farmer $46,000,000 per annum. Enormous figures these, but Texas is an enormous state. There is as yet only about 25 per cent of the tillable land of Texas in cultivation."

"Now if the Texas Cotton Palace at Waco did nothing more than to attract investors and farmers from other sections to cultivate the idle areas of Central Texas, or to inspire Central Texas planters to a more earnest cultivation, where such was necessary, the merchants would be the beneficiaries.

The Cotton Palace presents a review of the skill and the energy and the brain work of men engaged in all agricultural and horticultural pursuits, as well as other lines, but speaking of agriculture and horticulture—if the Cotton Palace is the means of doing so much to diversify and intensify and to generally raise the standard in all departments, the merchants are the beneficiaries.

Bank accounts grow better and more money is put into circulation, better clothes are worn and the people become more liberal spenders.

More Figures.

"But let us get down to some more figures. The Cotton Palace is an exposition the people delight to view and in visiting Waco more or less change is turned loose here and there. A few 'shekels' anyway. Possibly a million, or more, dollars every fall. Last year the attendance record at the Cotton Palace is said to be 200,000. Of that 25 per cent can be a fair and conservative proportion to the visitors there were without doubt 50,000 people who came to the city from without the corporate limits during the entire sixteen days of the show. If such be the case, and each spent an average of $10, it can be readily conceived that $500,000 was thus turned loose in Waco. But some may argue that this would be turned loose anyway, in Waco. I think not, because the Cotton Palace has no doubt offset a considerable pilgrimage of the populace of this entire section to other attractions, which not only the home people would spend their time in neighboring counties would spend their time elsewhere. The drain from our own ranks has been stopped and a current turned into the city from the outside. If no doubt can be readily held that our own people would spend at least $500,000 going elsewhere if there was no Cotton Palace here so that in addition to the $500,000 we get from outsiders we save $500,000 by having an exposition of such beauty within our own gates, so that the bunch of 'shekels' climbs to about the million dollar mark anyway. This can be added to in proportion to the increased attendance this year. While all will readily admit, as our publicity is going to further quiet the interurban will be coming into Waco as the exposition opens, there are thousands of more automobiles in Central Texas and autoing to the Cotton Palace will be quite a fad.

"Great Publicity Getter.

"Then there is no question but that the Cotton Palace has been one of the greatest publicity-getters for Waco in general that was ever conceived, and we all know that primarily publicity is what put the city on the map. From the time the coterie of young men of Waco first caucused, planned and then reluctantly fought to prevent the Young Men's Christian Association in its early days from going into another city and losing its identity at a time it was most in its death throes, rather passing out through 'painful inertia,' up to the present time, publicity has been recognized as the chief result-getter, accompanied by a glad-handiness to the stranger and the visitor. But, I guess I am digressing. Back to the Cotton Palace and its benefits to the merchants.

"I do not suppose any will dispute that the Cotton Palace has been a great factor in starting the building era. The exposition has been a means by which the city could be advertised, new blood attracted and more buildings made possible, which in turn has given work to more artisans of trades, carpenters, brickmasons, plumbers and others in the tremendous amount of construction work that has been and is now under way. I do not suppose any statistician, however shrewd or calculating, could figure up in particular the enormous benefit the Cotton Palace has been to the merchants of Waco by reason of additional earnings and the money thus turned loose."

Loving telegram: "M. B. Davis, Waco, Texas, wire me today amount building permits issued 4 August this year and last." Signed, J. A. Arnold, who is secretary and manager of the Texas Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association, an organization that is doing a mighty work in the general upbuilding of Texas as a whole.

Phenomenal Record.
"After an immediate phone to the city hall, I was glad to be able to reply: "Building permits, Waco, August, 1913, two hundred sixty thousand, five hundred and thirty, as compared to one hundred and eight thousand eight hundred and forty last year." Mr. Arnold used this in his next story to the press of Texas, and Waco went out as second in value of building permits in August—one of three cities which showed an increase in several larger cities of the state falling back very perceptibly. Favorable comment was made the entire southwest over about Waco's achievement, and in a supposedly dull month.

"The Cotton Palace has been a strong factor in creating a necessity for immediate hotel building. We will have the new ten story Riggins hotel, the most modern in all the South. There is also under construction the Waco hotel, the Savoy, the Brazos. So Waco can go after conventions right and left, and the city should have strong grounds which the neighboring counties would spend their time elsewhere. The drain from our own ranks has been stopped and a current turned into the city from the outside. If no doubt can be readily held that our own people would spend at least $500,000 going elsewhere if there was no Cotton Palace here so that in addition to the $500,000 we get from outsiders we save $500,000 by having an exposition of such beauty within our own gates, so that the bunch of 'shekels' climbs to about the million dollar mark anyway.

McCollum and Murray Next.
Secretary T. B. Jackson announced that at the next meeting of the organization addresses would be made by A. R. McCollum of the Semi-Weekly Tribune, and J. D. Murray of the Waco Morning News. The subject assigned to Mr. McCollum is "How a Newspaper Advertises Its Space and Circulation" and that assigned to Mr. Murray is "The Advertiser and the Newspaper."

Dr. Georgia in a gracefully worded speech, stated that he had been advised by the president of the Ad Club, now in New York, would shortly return home, and he suggested that a complimentary dinner be given in honor of President W. J. Miller at some time to be fixed later.

Dinner Idea Adopted.

The suggestion being generally favored, Dr. Georgia put his proposition in the form of a motion and it was carried by a unanimous vote. Chairman Harman stated that he would announce the committee to take charge of arrangements for the dinner in a few days.

The feast of reason and flow of soul last night was preceded by a luncheon, the ad men resuming themselves with a hearty repast before entering upon the business session. Secretary Hankins of the Y. M. C. A. had charge of the arrangements for the luncheon, which was served in excellent style.

Appraisers Raise Value of Land Where Speculators Purchase Claims.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 2.—An effort of the State Board of Appraisers, who are reappraising school lands forfeited for non-payment of interest, to thwart the attempts of speculators to make large sums on the purchase of claims of landholders delinquent in payment of interest, will probably result in proceedings being filed to test the constitutionality of the act passed by the last legislature. This act provided for the re-appraisal of the land and resale to the former owners.

It is the alleged action of the appraisers in raising the value of the land where they found that speculators had purchased the claims, that has caused the contentions.

AT THE REX THEATRE.VERSION OF 'SALOME' DIGNIFIED

Excellent Presentation of Massenet's Beautiful Opera Proves Surprise to Waco Theatregoers.

Dignified in orchestration, in singing volume, in scenic production and in costuming, balanced in a way seldom seen in a presentation of grand opera in English, Massenet's "Salome," as seen at the Auditorium last evening was a distinct surprise to an astonishingly large audience. The surprise was, in fact, at least, amounted to keen disappointment. This was in the case of those who came expecting to see something suggestive, that class whose disdained minds crave and seek out food for vile imaginings even in the sacred history of the divine tragedy of John the Baptist.

These latter never heard of Massenet and his beautiful opera; to them the name spelled nothing; they only harbored the popular belief that anything relating to the weird Salome must of necessity be unclean. With these expectations then, it is any wonder that they were disappointed with the beautifully clean book by the composer of "Thais." Massenet's coming to a stop the voices of Salome, devoted followers of John the Baptist, a pure girl whose love for him is white enough to stand the test of renunciation—a Salome who takes her stand by his side before a scoffing world, giving up opportunity, without hope of any reward save the knowledge that John returns her love.

The opera was presented in Europe and in New York under the name of "Herodias" and the change in name doubtless proved misleading to a number of music lovers of the city.

John F. Sheehan (not Joseph as appeared in the program), who sings the role of John, was suffering from a severe cold last evening and so severe in fact that his voice singing during the last act was cut entirely. To the music lover this was somewhat of a disappointment. Massenet built his musical structure upon what might be called John the Baptist's most important theme that is interwoven throughout the entire fabric. Here and there glimpses of this theme are shown, but the climax is never quite reached until the duet scene comes in the last act. The duet part between Herod and Salome is one of the most difficult vocal tests found in any of the lighter grand operas. Mr. Sheehan last night felt entirely inadequate to essay the duet and it was cut.

Mme. Antoinette de Brun was a subdued Salome, in all the attitudes of the sinuous creature most of us have photographed in our minds—a perfect vocalist, withal, but to use a popular expression, lacking utterly in "kick." Massenet's Salome probably was meant to be a kick, but she was a fine performance, although not a likable one.

By far the best sung scene was that in the last scene in the laboratory between Herodias and Pharaoh's wife, Lydia Burtsevant and Harold J. Glaz. Both are possessed of peculiarly musical voices and the beautiful duet probably never was given a more enjoyable presentation.

The scene of twenty pieces is an excellent organization while the orchestra is not only extremely well trained, but its individual voices are uniformly good.

In the version of "Salome" seen last night the only dancing is done by Miss Sophie, the talkative (yet most sly) vision, whose dance, though ungraceful, is the thing of the past. The cities are less pretentious than Waco. The galleries of most theatres are as orderly and as well conducted as the parquets. Managers of theatres have found it necessary to break up the old rough house section, now in Austin, while the University is in session. Not only the patrons but the performers themselves demand it. The time is past when a two-bit gallery ticket can spoil a show for a two-dollar customer. Unless Waco is to forever go down in the theatrical sense, somebody will have to break up the rough work in the gallery of the Auditorium.

New York, Oct. 2.—The New York-Philadelphia game begun on August 30 at Philadelphia and stopped in the ninth inning by Umpire Brennan, was completed at the Polo grounds today. Philadelphia winning by a score of 8 to 6.

The longest game ever record, was brought to a quick finish. Murray of the Giants, who was at bat, with one out when the game at Philadelphia was interrupted, grounded to Lober, Meyer singled, but went to first on a foul ball, was driven in by McLean, who batted for Snodgrass, and the game was over. The Philadelphia players ran from the bench and danced in glee at the speedy decision in their favor of the long standing dispute.

For the first time in a week Manager Mack had his full strength available. All the members of his staff, McInnis, Collins, Baker and Barry were in their usual positions. The outfit was composed of Eddie Murphy, Strawn and Oldring. When Bender and Schang were in at the start of the game it was taken as an indication that they would form a battery in the world's series trim and that they would probably be the men selected to do this work in the first engagement of the big series.

The fans had been passing as to who would win out over Bender and Schang. Many believed that Thomas, who did the bulk of the backstopping work for the Philadelphians in the world series against Chicago in 1910, and against New York in 1911, would again be paired with the big Indian twirler. The indications however, are that Schang has been decided upon to receive Bender's delivery in today's contest a foul tip of Peckinpah's to the right fielder, Schang on the right hand, and bruised one of his fingers. Manager Mack declared tonight he did not believe the accident would prove serious. Schang continued to catch until the side was retired. Bender pitched well, however, and the Indians had a good time.

SHORT CROP SALE

WILL OPEN AT THE

FRANKLIN STREET BARGAIN STORE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4th, 1913

Sale Begins
SATURDAY
October 4th
 and continues until our mammoth stocks are reduced

Owing to the prospects for a big crop being so favorable early in the year, we anticipated a very large business for the fall and therefore stocked up very heavy in all departments, but owing to the short crop of cotton we are faced with too much goods, which we must unload in a very short time. Therefore we have put on this sale, right at the time when you need the goods, and we know our prices will move them.

Never before were our stocks so complete with new and dependable merchandise as they are now, and you get the pick of the cream right in the opening of the season, when everybody else is asking big prices for their goods. Remember, our guarantee goes with everything we sell—to be just as represented.

Cotton.

New York, Oct. 2.—The government's October crop report was followed by a sharp break in the cotton market today. The report showed the last official compilation of the season and put the crop outlook at 64.1 per cent comparing with 69.6 last year, 71.1 in 1911 and 68.6, the ten year average. Local statisticians pointed out that the condition was poorest for ten years since the inception of 1903, and claimed that, mathematically considered, it pointed to a crop of not more than 13,000,000 bales including bintex, but the figures proved a little unusual and exceptions of recent buyers and sellers signified a heavy general reducing or liquidation.

Offerings were well taken in 5 reactions of some 25 or 30 points, and price rallied 7 or 8 points from the lowest in advance of the market opening, grain houses, trade interests or covering with the close steady at a net loss of only 2 or 3 points for the day.

The market had made new high records before the publication of the cotton situation. The consensus report showed 3,237,851 bales ginned to September 25 was considered full, in view of unsettled weather conditions prevailing since the first of last month, but seemed to create little interest and the market was put at an advance of 10 to 16 points in response to high Liverpool cables and reports of further heavy rains in the southwest. There was considerable activity in the market of the bureau report which caused more or less irregularity, but the market ruled generally steady and prices were at virtually the best point when the official report was published. Then October quickly brought in 13.21 and other offerings were checked by reports that New England mills were buying on the decline. House with Liverpool connections were reported to be the buyers of the day, and December during the afternoon and the unusually heavy Liverpool spot sales following yesterday's reports of labor troubles in Manchester attracted considerable attention during the early trading:

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 2.—The cotton market maintained a steady undertone today, although from the middle of the session on it was under considerable selling pressure from both sides, following the reading of the last condition report of the season on the growing crop, which proved rather higher than generally expected, but caused little selling because of strength displayed by Liverpool future sales of 20,000 bales of foreign cotton. That market, after a long advance in price, another sustaining influence was the heavy precipitation in Texas over night. At the highest the trading months were 12 to 13 points up, the condition report of the day, 4.1 points for the month over the entire belt and a loss of only one point in the nominal showing a loss of 13 points up, price 10 points down but toward the end of the day the market did better and closed steady at a net decline of 6 to 8 points.

Grain.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Predictions of a material falling off soon in northwest, receipts caused a quick change in money market, the wheat market today and pushed prices higher. Closing prices were firm 3/4c@5c to 3/4c@5c above last night. Corn gained 3/4c@5c to 3/4c@5c and oats 3/4c to 3/4c. Provisions were unchanged to 1/4c each higher.

Shifts to the buying side of the wheat market came rapidly as soon as word was received that the best posted proprietary in Minneapolis were looking for arrivals to be extremely light after an interval of time, and grain dealers were raised a point or more.

Influence which have been brought to bear in the market recently seemed to have worked themselves out and traders had decided to pending developments to give fresh impetus to speculation.

Advance in the Bank of England's discount rate from 4% to 5 per cent was followed by a slight hardening in money market, and grain dealers reduced their prices to 3/4c@5c

Modern Methods Are Best

Mammy now uses Calumet Baking Powder instead of sour milk and soda, or the cheap and big-can kind, because it is more convenient—because she knows from experience that the baking will be lighter, daintier and more uniformly raised—that it will keep fresh longer.

Calumet is certain of good results—it is purer and more wholesome than the cheap big-can kind, and more economical in the end.

Give Calumet one trial. If it fails to give you absolute satisfaction return it and get your money back. If you don't get Calumet you don't get the best.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

You don't save money when you buy cheap or big-can baking powder. Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's more economical—more wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is far superior to sour milk and soda.

TWO FRANCHISES COME UP TODAY

RIVAL CONCERN WOULD SUPPLY WACO WITH NATURAL GAS.

MAYOR OF MEXIA IS ON DECK

He Asks for His Company the Same Privileges Conceded to Geo. W. Stough and Associates.

Two franchises, both containing the provision that natural gas will be piped to Waco from the Mexia gas fields, forty miles away, will be presented to the city commission at the regular meeting this morning. That of George W. Stough will come up for its final passage. The second, which is to be applied for by T. F. Smith, mayor of Mexia, will come up for its initial reading.

Just what action the commission will take on the two is problematical. Mr. Stough was the first applicant and the commission has already issued a franchise in his favor to its third reading. Should it pass the third reading that will settle the matter so far as the city is concerned.

The Smith Application.

The second franchise, that is the one applied for by Smith and associates, was brought into the play at the last meeting of the commission. This franchise is sought as the applicants say, in order that they might be in readiness to carry out its provisions in the event that Mr. Stough did not take advantage of his gift from the city.

SAY COMPLAINTS ARE UNFOUNDED

HACKMEN'S GRIEVANCE AGAINST TRANSFER CO. HAS TWO SIDES.

LEHANE AND HERBERT EXPLAIN

Cotton Belt Agent and Transfer Co. President Think Situation Is Not Understood.

Complaints lodged with the police recently in the last month by hackmen who charged that solicitors, or runners, in the employ of the Waco Transfer company have persistently violated the ordinance prohibiting the soliciting of baggage and passenger transfer business at the railroad stations, are without justification, according to statements made yesterday afternoon by J. F. Lehane, passenger and freight agent of the Cotton Belt, and President Herbert of the transfer concern.

Acting upon the complaints of the hackmen, Chief of Police Hollis Barron recently instructed the police doing railroad station duty to look into the alleged grievances of the hackmen and to enforce the city ordinances applying to the soliciting of business on the platforms of the railroad stations. The police to this time have not had occasion to prosecute a case in court.

J. F. Lehane Talks.

Mr. Lehane, who arrived here yesterday on one of his periodical business trips, said when asked regarding the contention between the transfer company and the individual hackmen:

"There has been no violation of the ordinance, as I understand it. The complainants apparently do not understand that the baggage transfer men they see on the trains are actual employees of the railroad. These men travel on passes, issued to them as employees.

The purpose of the railroad company to have these men on hand for the convenience of the traveling public and the protection of the traveler's baggage.

They board the trains, take the order for baggage delivery and give a receipt in the form of a transfer baggage check. They are held accountable for the safety of the baggage by the railroad company.

They are not required to solicit business on station platforms and I am unaware of it if that practice has ever been in vogue here. We have had no trouble on that score at any other point along the lines of the Cotton Belt."

Say Hackmen Are Mistaken.

President Herbert of the Waco Transfer company said: "I think I can explain the matter. The complaining hackmen have been laboring under a misapprehension. They have seen our men meet passengers at the station, take charge of their baggage and transfer them to another railroad depot. That was because the passengers taken care of had coupons attached to their railroad tickets which called for the transfer of both the passenger and his baggage from one road to another. Our company is under contract with the railroad company and bonded to take care of such passengers.

Acting as Guides.

"Our men are at the depot merely to give the travelers information and guide them to the railroad with which they are to make connection. Here is a coupon, for example, torn from the ticket of a passenger traveling from Dallas to a point beyond Waco. The railroad ticket entitles the purchaser to the service we gave him when he arrived here over the St. Louis and Southwestern and he was transferred with his baggage to the other road over which he was to travel.

Decided by Appearances.

"The hackmen, seeing our men approach passengers alighting from trains at the railroad stations and carrying them off bag and baggage, apparently jumped to the conclusion that the transfer company's men were soliciting business on the platform.

As a matter of fact, the contract our men were fulfilling when they met these passengers was made in Dallas and the traveler had a coupon attached to his ticket entitling him to the service given by our men at the depot."

Stalling Lived in Waco.

S. M. Stallings, whose body was found near Dallas Saturday, was formerly a resident of this city, working as a teamster for Rivers Terrence.

FOURTH FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

WILLIAM SMITH GOES TO TRIAL AGAIN NEXT MONDAY.

LEHANE AND HERBERT EXPLAIN

Convicted of Manslaughter on Third Trial, He Is Immune From Capital Punishment.

For the fourth time in the local courts Wm. Smith goes to trial Monday morning in the Fifty-Fourth District court on a charge of killing Jim Smith. In each of the three preceding trials the defendant was convicted. In the first two of murder and at the last trial of manslaughter. As his last conviction was for manslaughter he cannot be tried for or convicted of any higher degree of murder than manslaughter at the present trial. Wm. Smith is charged with shooting Jim Smith on November 22, 1907. The men were in no way related.

Old Statutes to Govern.

The case will be tried under the old law and will not be affected by the new statute which does away with the various degrees of murder.

Uncle Sam Wants to See How His New Venture is Panning Out. Three Months of Hard Work Necessary to Restore Good Conditions.

In compliance with a general order sent out to postmasters from Washington, Postmaster W. H. Hoffmann was yesterday hard at work on a report to be made showing the volume of parcel post business handled by the Waco postoffice. The statement he is preparing will show the receipts from this branch of the postal service out of the Waco office for September.

A number of complaints have been made lately in regard to the condition of some of the city's streets, and in answer to them, State Commissioner Foster said yesterday that since as the rain let up, active work would be commenced in repairing the damage.

"The streets, due to the unusual wet spell," said Commissioner Foster, "are now in the worst condition they have seen for six years. Even if dry weather is had from now on it will take three months' steady labor to get them into as good condition as they were in three weeks ago."

Mr. Hoffmann said that no explanation for the compilation of these records accompanied the order from the postoffice department.

Looking Into Results.

The presumption is that the figures are desired merely to ascertain exactly the extent of the increase in parcel post receipts from month to month and where the financial returns to the government from this branch of the postal service.

With a view to making postage uniform, the sale of parcel post stamps will be discontinued as soon as the supply now on hand is exhausted. The stamps are now accepted as postage on all classes of mail matter. Ordinary letter postage is also accepted for the transmission of parcel post packages. The uniform postage system is therefore practically in effect.
